Money Taken from the Egyptian Debt Fund for the Soudan Campaign Ordered Repaid.

LONDON, Dec. 2 .- Dr. Leander S. Jameson was released to-night at 9 o'clock from Holloway jail in compliance with the order of the home secretary, Sir Matthew White Ridley. Doctor Jameson underwent a serious operation in the jail on Nov. 19 and was ordered on medical grounds. He was sentenced to fifteen months' imprisonment on July 28 last on a charge of violating the neutrality laws in invading the territory of the South Af-

A few days ago the cable dispatches announced there was a movement to Dr. Jameson's release on the that his health was precarious and it was feared he might die if not removed at once. This report, backed by the testimony of the jail physicians, probably influenced the home secretary to act

JOURNALISTS ON TRIAL.

Charged with Libeling Robenlohe and Other Prominent Germans. BERLIN, Dec. 2.- The trial of Herr Leckert, Baron Von Luetzow, Herr Ploetz, Herr Berger and Herr Foeller, the journalists who are charged with libeling Count Von Eulenberg, Baron Marschal von Bieberstein and Prince Alexander von Hohenlohe, commenced to-day. The case arises from the twofold versions of the Char's and Emperor William's toast at Breslau and the alleged libels are contained in comments of the commission voted in favor of the proposimodified official version of the toast and in asserting that the publication of the first version, which the libel construed as unfriendly to Germany, was due to the irresibility of the government and to Enelish influences. MUST REPAY $2,500,000.

Funds for the Soudan Expedition Were Wrongfully Advanced. ALEXANDRIA, Egypt. Dec. 2. - The Court of Appeals to-day issued its decision in the famous case of the caisse of the Egyptian debt and the government, condemning the latter to repay funds advanced by the caisse for the purpose of the Anglo-Egyptian expedition to Dongola, The decision of the court is greeted at Paris on all sides as a decided rebuff for England. Not that it will make any difference, except that England herself will have to pay for the Dongola expedition. The French joy is due to the fact that the decision utterly destroys the pretension that England possesses exclusive control over

PAPER MILL TRUST.

Proposed Combination for Control of Output and Prices.

BOSTON, Dec. 2 .- William A. Russell and H. McKnowles, of Boston, two of the most prominent persons in the reported combination to control the paper mills of the country, have gone to New York to attend a meeting at which it is expected details of the combination will be completed. From one of the leading men in the combination been made to remove resident foreigners to it was learned to-day that the proposed agreement between the mills will not take the form of a trust or consolidation, but tions. An attempt was made to form a combination of all the mills in the country, merging all the property into one large company of $35,000,000 capital. It was almost hopeless to put this through, for each manufacturer thought his property the most valuable. After several abortive attempts to form such a combination the idea was given up, and since then the manufacturers have been working to secure a pool The present scheme is for each company to retain its own property, each doing its own manufacturing, but pooling the sales, each customer to be served from the nearest point of production. The manufacturers, in view of the present overproduction, which amounts to about three hundred tons per day, seem kindly disposed towards this plan, and there is little doubt that the agreement will be completed at a meeting in New York within a few days. It is not expected that there will be any increase in price at present, as some of the mills are taking two-year contracts at the present prices of paper. Sewer Pipe Trust.

CHIPPEWA FALLS NOT YET RE-LIEVED FROM GREAT PERIL.

Citizens Busy All Yesterday Moving Their Effects from the Apparently Doomed Town.

DYNAMITE EXPLODED AGAIN

BUT NO IMPRESSION MADE ON THE MOUNTAINOUS ICE DAM.

Slight Recession of the Pent-Up Water-Situation at Ean Claire and Other Wisconsin Towns.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., Dec. 2.-At 10 o'clock to-night the situation in Chippewa Falls is more hopeful. The water has receded about six inches, and it is believed that it may not rise higher, though the city has twice been misled within within the past forty-eight hours by exactly the same conditions. Last night the water receded eight inches between the hours of 8 and 12, but after that hour it came up rapidly until it had gone two feet above its former high water mark. To-night's bright prospects may be but a repetition of those of last night and the night before, and before daylight many expect that the water will be creeping up Bridge street into the residence portion of the city. The gorge in the channel of the river has been added to the contrary, we know of many disorderly houses, with the former two-hundred-dolall day, and to-night it seems a veritable frozen snow and ice, a further rise may not be experienced, but it is doubted if a sufficient volume can find its way under it to save the city from further destruction.

At 6 o'clock to-night an immense amount of anchor ice is piled in the river at the foot of Bridge street, indicating that the gorge had anchored on the bottom, and that the water was no longer finding its way beneath. The fact that the river had fallen fifteen inches at Eau Claire seemed to warrant this belief, but nevertheless the water did not continue to rise in this city after that hour. It may be possible that the water found another means of passing down the river, but the citizens will not feel absolutely safe until it has been demonstrated by several days' observation that the river has reached its maximum

The situation here was interesting in the extreme to-day. The city was panic stricken, and men with blanched faces rushed back and forth, scarcely conscious of their actions. The alarm may be unfounded, but nevertheless it exists, and the condition of the river seems to augur ill for the entire city. Wild reports reach town of the havoc wrought by the stream above, and a terrible catastrophe may overtake the city at any moment. No one knows just what is in store, and the condition of uncertainty adds more to the excitement of the moment than the actual destruction of property by the river possibly could. One rumor, to the effect that the river would cut a passage for itself through the high banks north of the city. gave rise to a great deal of apprehension. The river's course is seriously obstructed by the gorge, which has now reached to within a short distance of the dam, and the probable turning of the course of the both. stream upon the city seemed so plausible that every one became even more panic stricken. Hundreds of teams started at daylight to move the effects of merchants out of the way of possible danger, and Bridge and Central streets were choked with wagons loaded down with merchandise. In many instances these wagons were filled to such an extent that the contents spilled over the sides and ends, and the scene was one of indescribable confusion. By morning not a building in the business portion of the city will be occupied. Both the Lumbermen's and First National banks moved this afternoon, and the higher portions of the city are fairly congested with the enormous amount of material that has been stored there for safety. At 12 o'clock Spring street was impassable between Bridge and Bay streets, and the water was climbing steadily towards the basement of the City Hall. Cellars on the high ground in that vicinity are rising rapidly, and the water in many instances trickled into the streets, indicating that a great height would be attained

It is impossible to see how any of the lower portions of the city can escape, for the coming of the waters seems as sure as pletely inundated. It is thought the flood may have spent its force for the outlying districts. The critical condition here, however, continues to excite fear, and the developments of the next twenty-four hours will be anxiously awaited. One thousand pounds of dynamite were exploded in the gorge to-day, but without result. Debris and anchor ice would fill in as fast as an aperture was made and those at work would not accomplish anything.

In the Black River Country. BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis., Dec. 2 .-The recent floods in Black river surpassed anything in the history of the county at so late a period in the fall. As returns from the lower river country come in much loss of stock and other property is reported. Pete Patterson, a farmer, living a few miles below this city, lost seven head of stock which were feeding in the bottoms, and were swept away by the flood, which came so suddenly. Losses of like character are reported at other points. It is reported that the long and expensive fill at the end of the Melrose bridge is washed away. The break in the jam saved the bridge, as it gave an outlet to the im-mense body of water held back by the anchor ice, which was gorged almost to the bridge. At numerous other points the highways are reported to be in a demoralized condition. Otherwise the flood has placed things in poor condition for win-

Less Alarm at Eau Claire. EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Dec. 2 .- There is not so much alarm here to-night as there has been, for there is little likelihood now will be a pool to control the output, sales | that the lessening volume of water coming and price of paper used by news publica- from above can either push the ice gorge down or make an overflow which would reach this city. It is certain that as long as the present weather conditions continue the gorge will not move, and as long as it does not Chippewa Falls must take the accumulation of water, and Eau Claire will be in no danger. Even should a higher temperature prevail and loosen the gorge it seems likely that enough of the ice and water would be held at the reservoir above this city to prevent any danger here. All the families here who have vacated their homes in anticipation of danger have moved back into them. Some Lives Possibly Lost.

DURAND, Wis., Dec. 2.-The flood conditions remain unchanged to-night. Further danger is apprehended, for if the jam up the river breaks it will raise such a flood of ice and water as will inundate half the town. Grave fears are entertained for McEnerny and other men who were left on the bottoms Sunday, and it is thought probable some lives were lost.

1,000,000 Feet of Logs Fast. TREMPEALEAU, Wis., Dec. 2 .- Over one million feet of logs are fast in the ice gorge between here and La Crosse. They came out of the Chippewa and Eau Claire rivers meeting here in the latter part of this during the recent floods. The Mississippi month.

Alabama Iron Trade Booming. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 2.—Local iron masters say that the demand by foreign buyers for Alabama pig iron is unprecedented. The Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company vesterday shipped 2.500 tons to Liverpool and has inquiries for Columbus & Rome Railroad, near Hamilprices on an aggregate of thirty thousand tons from Rotterdam, Genoa and other Eu-ropean points. The Sloss Iron and Steel Company to-day booked an order for three thousand tons from Calcutta, India, and the same buyer wants quotations on three thousand tons more. The ability of the Alabama furnaces to make a high grade iron and sell it cheaper than European producers local furnace men say accounts for the phenomenal growth in the Alabama ex-port iron trade. The only difficulty en-countered is the lack of boat room, because of the rush in cotton and grain shipments abroad. Iron masters believe that when this subsides the foreign iron trade will assume the proportions of a boom.

RAINES EXCISE LAW.

Both Criticised and Commended by Witnesses at the Senate Inquiry.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.-I. K. Funk, editor of the Voice, an organ of the Prohibitionists, was the first witness called for examination to-day before the State Senate committee investigating the workings of the Raines excise bill. "I can sum up the result of my observations," said Dr. Funk, by saying that under the old law illegal traffic in liquor in Brooklyn on Sundays was well nigh universal." According to his best information, he continued, there are now over two thousand "Raines hotels" in Brooklyn, and, in his opinion, the police and magistrates in Brooklyn are too lenient in their treatment of excise offenders because of their desire to popularize themselves with the saloon keeper and so-called general public. "A very bad feature of the present law," he said, "is that it has opened from eight hundred to one thousand hotels in Brooklyn which are used almost altogether as places of assignation." W. E. Johnson, a member of the Voice staff, gave evidence in elaboration of this latter declaration of Dr. Funk.

Charged with the Illegal Sale of Unclaimed Corpses.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.-Morgue Keeper A. N. White, arrested for the illegal sale of unclaimed corpses, admitted to-day that he had engaged in the traffic in bodies, but declared that it was permissible under the law. The specific case on which the charges are brought is supported by the receipt for the body signed by the Bellevue porter and also the receipt given by the polyclinic when the body was transferred to that institution. But as the name does not appear on the anatomical book, where all transfers authorized by the superintendent must be recorded, the case is held to be illegal. No receipts for money, in this case have been found, but it is said that there were some 200 checks on other accounts, several as high as $60,000, that might perhaps be used as evidence against the keeper. Bodies had been sold at an average of $5 apiece. About one thousand unclaimed bodies are transferred annually from the morgue to the medical institu-tions of the city, but this must be done under the authority of the Bellevue super-intendent, otherwise the transfer consti-tutes a felony punishable by not more than five years in State prison or $1,000 fine, or

Justice Foster Declares It Unlawful for Cocks to Crow Before Sunrise.

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.-The crowing of the cock at an unseemly hour in the night was yesterday decided by Justice Foster to be unlawful and against the city ordinance regarding nuisances. Mrs. Mina Fleck, owner of the bird at bar, was fined $10. The complainant, Mrs. Krueger, alleged that the fowl had a habit of crowing shortly after midnight and would keep up his cock-a-doodle-doos until daylight; that by so doing she was prevented from slumbering, and that her health was breaking down under toss of sleep. Several witnesses testified for the rooster, but the court held that a rooster had no right to crow before sun-rise. The defense gave notice of an ap-

The fire was discovered by Rev. Father Petri. the epastor, while celebrating mass. time the ablaze. A strong breeze was blowing, making the work of the firemen unavailing. Just before the fire became the fiercest Fireman Doherty ran into the building with a line of hose, intending to work from the inside. He was followed by Fireman Blackney. Chief Whippley seeing their danger, cracred them outside, but they would not heed his comman i. A moment later the walls fell in, burying the two men. After the fire had burned itself out the bodies of the men were found lying close together burned to a crisp. The church was completely destroyed, but the valuable vest-ments were saved. The loss will amount to $20,00J.

Four Children Burned. CHICAGO, Dec. 2.-The four children of Paul Bartcovitch, a laborer living at No. 1216 North Fifty-third street, were burned to death this afternoon. The dead children are: Joseph Bartcovitch, six years; Rosa Bartcovitch, four years; John Bartcovitch, two years, and Louis Bartcovitch, one year, The children were left alone in the house by Mrs. Bartcovitch. She left the three younger children in charge of Joseph, p.acing all four in the kitchen and locking the doors. It is supposed the children played with matches or lighted pieces of paper in the stove and set fire to the house. The building was a small one-story frame affair and in a sparsely settled district, no other house being within a block of it. None of the neighbors appears to have seen the building on fire, as the mother when she returned two hours after leaving was the first one to find that their house had been burned and her children were dead. All four of the bodies were found badiy charred in the ruins.

TYPES OF BACCHANTE.

Difference Between Conceptions of Parks and McMonnies.

The exhibit of Sculptor Park's marble statue "Bacchante" in this city has revived some of the art discussions which cropped out at the time Boston and the McMonnies "Bacchante," now in the Public Library court at Boston, where a stream of water plays over her.

Rev. J. L. Seward, grand prior of the Supreme Council of the Scottish Rite, is in all day, and to-night it seems a veritable mountain which tons of dynamite cannot affect. If the water succeeds in cutting a passage beneath this immense mass of passage beneath this immense mass of ton and is intensely interested in the art been a decrease in drunkenness since the and literary life of that city of culture. He visited the Park's statue yesterday. In speaking of the McMonnies work, Mr. Seward said the opposition to the statue did not come from people who opposed the portance to lay before the committee. He declared himself against a restrictive liquor nude in art, but from people who thought the suggestiveness in the statute might work harm. McMonnies's conception of law, and in favor of a law that would enable only honest men to engage in the saloon business. "I go on the principle," he said, "that the harder it is for a man to get a Bacchante is different from that of Mr. Park. McMonnies has given an abandon to his creation and has typed the woman accordingly. Mr. Parks takes a different view of the Bacchants, and in his view he was sustained by Professor Montegazzi, of Florence, one of the best known au-thorities on sculpture and the mythology pertaining thereto. These Bacchants were attendants on Bacchus, who was not held to be a patron of lewdness, but a god whose beneficence and higher qualities of mind helped to promote civilization. Mr. Parks holds that these followers were more frequently the graces of order, law and religion than the riotuous revelers they are so frequently represented. In Mr. Parks's statue the face is strongly individual and one visitor yesterday compared the mouth and its expression to that of Mme. Nordica.
